To support and promote Kansas history through the Kansas Historical Society.

On the cover: The top 12 Notable Events in Kansas History were selected by Governor Sam Brownback’s blue ribbon panel on Kansas history and announced at an event in January 2012. Some events emerge as defining moments, not only impacting our citizens, but affecting those well beyond our borders and around the world. These critical events in history began here, in Kansas. On the front cover are Overland Trails, Indian Relocation, Women’s Suffrage, and Wheat Production. This issue highlights some of these notable events.
From the President and Executive Director

You are a champion of education and preservation and we thank you. Support from our loyal members and donors assists us in our mission to support the work of the Kansas Historical Society by providing private funds for critical programming. You are making a difference in the lives of students and citizens on a daily basis. This includes everything from creating hands-on learning experiences to providing much needed maintenance at state owned historic sites. This generosity saves rare Civil War battle flags, conserves valuable objects, purchases historic artifacts, and creates classroom materials on Kansas history for students, plus so much more. We are proud to share with you the accomplishments of the Kansas Historical Foundation and its impact on the Kansas Historical Society, a state agency, in fiscal year 2012.

Your donation helps the Kansas Historical Society achieve its priorities to collect and preserve Kansas history in order to educate, engage, and entertain. Your gift has a direct impact on Kansas students and citizens of all ages. As we close the book on this fiscal year and look forward to new opportunities and challenges in the year ahead, we pause to thank our loyal members and supporters, including you. Your generosity transforms, improves, and enriches lives.

The Honorable Paul M. Buchanan
President & Chair

Update of Strategic Plan

The joint strategic plan passed in fiscal year 2011 focuses more resources on development and fewer resources on retail in order to support the Kansas Historical Society for now and the next 150 years. In keeping with that plan the Kansas Historical Foundation implemented staff reorganization this past fiscal year.

Development Officer: Sally Zogry has served in the newly created development officer position to help support fundraising efforts since October 2011. Sally helps with recruitment, cultivation, and stewardship of individual and corporate donors and increasing membership awareness and recruitment. She is implementing a corporate membership program and increasing visibility of membership and charitable giving opportunities online.

Senior Administrative Assistant: Sherry Holmes joined the staff in June 2012 to provide project support, secretarial services, assistance to the retail coordinator, and administer the awards program.

Retail Coordinator: Marla Holt was hired in June 2012 to oversee product development, procurement, marketing, sales, and management for the store merchandising program. She is incorporating new technologies to develop and market new products focusing on Kansas Historical Society collection-inspired, Kansas made, or Kansas artists’ merchandise.

Accountants: Nancy Cole and Carol Hille joined the staff in March 2012, bringing many years of accounting and auditing experience. They maintain the accounting system, including payroll and personnel records, recording invoices and payments, retail, paying bills, and generating quarterly financial reports. They assist with the annual budget, the yearly audit, and help staff members administer grants within the organization.

The joint strategic plan also included streamlining procedures to reduce costs for retail functions. Both agencies invested in a software system to integrate sales, admission, and reporting for the Museum, Capitol, and historic sites. The system includes an online store for retail products, and integration of functions to allow sales of State Archives services. The new system was installed in September 2012.

The Historical Foundation began a partnership with the Kansas State University Chapman Center for Rural Studies in producing Kansas History: A Journal of the Central Plains. This partnership helps defray costs and increase readership. Foundation staff members have worked to develop location specific partnerships to provide financial help for the Museum and the historic sites. In fiscal year 2011 long-range planning with a partner was completed for William Allen White House and the Shawnee Indian Mission Foundation has begun focusing on a campaign to rehabilitate the west building.

The innovative Partnership Historic Sites Tax Credits program ended on June 30, 2012. During the program’s five-year span generous Kansas taxpayers donated more than $325,000, and as a result utilized more than $160,000 in tax credits. The donated funds supported important projects such as:

- Keeping William Allen White House in Emporia open
- Promoting learning by doing for students at Grinter Place through hands-on reproduction artifacts
- Providing interactive exhibits for Fort Hays
- Repairs and maintenance at state-owned sites

The commitment and support of the donors who participated in this program has been critical to preserving the state’s history. We greatly appreciate those Kansans who made this program a success.

School tours at Red Rocks State Historic Site, the home of the William Allen White family in Emporia, were possible because contributions kept the site open.

Potawatomi Trail of Death ends in Kansas

Margot Swovelan was a longtime employee of the Kansas Historical Society who worked with the newspaper collections. When she died in 2011 her brother, Dr. Eric J. Rinehart, established an endowment in her name. The $15,000 endowment will help support Swovelan’s passion for newspapers by providing access and preservation for the Historical Society’s collection.

“Margot spent her entire career at the Kansas Historical Society,” Eric J. Rinehart said. “She was devoted to the early newspaper clipping program that has provided a wealth of information to the researcher. The delivery method, whether it was clipping, Xeroxing, and filing, or perhaps entry into the modern digital environment, was not important, it was the purpose that was important. So what could be a better use for the family’s donation? She found a real home with the Historical Society and she and her family will always be very grateful for that home.”

The Historical Society appreciates the generous gift from Margot’s family, her husband, Ed Swovelan, and her brother, Eric Rinehart. As a result, future generations will benefit from access to these records.
R. E. French Family Grant Received

An improvement grant of nearly $12,000 from the R. E. French Family Educational Foundation of Gridley will benefit schoolchildren and visitors to the Kansas Museum of History and the State Archives for years to come. The grant made it possible for the Historical Society to purchase digital camera equipment, projectors, interactive white boards with slates, and a touch screen. The purchase of this equipment would have been impossible without the educational grant.

The digital camera will enable visitors to the State Archives to copy microfilm. The projectors will allow school children to view websites and PowerPoint presentations. Classes that participate in specific educational tours at the Museum will use the interactive boards with slates as part of their experience. Visitors to the Museum will learn by doing through the use of the 52-inch touchscreen to manipulate images.

Sarah Grimm, a trustee for the French Family foundation said that the Historical Society’s programs match its funding goals. “We are always happy to be helpful for educational endeavors,” Grimm said.

Roy E. French was a self-made oilman and philanthropist who loved dog breeding and set up the foundation in 1981. Additional funding came in his bequest. The foundation provides renewable scholarships to many Kansas high school graduates. A biography of French, written by the Honorable James K. Logan for his 2009 Kansas Historical Foundation President’s Address, is available online at: kshs.org/publicat/history/2010spring_logan.pdf.
Membership News

More than 30 individuals and organizations have been members of the Kansas Historical Foundation for longer than five decades. The Foundation appreciates this steadfast support as well as the support of every member, whether new or lifelong. Members provide critical assistance in the mission to collect and preserve Kansas history in order to educate and engage the state’s citizens.

The Foundation has seen a decrease of 5 percent in membership: 2,583 members in fiscal year 2012 versus 2,735 in fiscal year 2011. Recruiting new members and retaining those who are current are vital to the organization. The Foundation is working to reenergize the membership program and to increase awareness locally, statewide, and regionally. One of the goals is to increase membership significantly in the next two years. New membership and retail software will help with this endeavor as will more outreach events both onsite and at community events. Our staff and board members are excited to encourage more individuals and groups to join us in our commitment to Kansas history.

Kansas Historical Foundation Annual Meeting

The 136th Annual Meeting of the Kansas Historical Foundation was held November 4, 2011. The theme of the meeting was Kansas 150: Celebrating Notable Kansans. President Dean Carlson and Historical Society Executive Director Jennie Chinn presented the 25 Notable Kansans who had been designated as part of the state sesquicentennial commemoration. Board members also participated in a breakout session on development and discussed how to put their passion and enthusiasm for the organization into practice in the community.

Research awards presented at the meeting were:
- Alfred M. Landon Historical Research Award – Adrienne Dunn "Exploring Female Exodusters in Kansas"
- Edgar Langsdorf Award of Excellence – Dr. Christopher C. Lovett "A Public Burning: Race, Sex and the Lynching of Fred Alexander"

Kansas Historical Foundation Spring Meeting

Members of the Kansas Historical Society took advantage of a special opportunity at the 2012 spring meeting. As a member benefit, the annual spring meeting offers members the chance to meet others who share their passion for history and to learn more about particular aspects of the state’s fascinating past. This June members had the rare opportunity to learn about a Kaw Indian site that was being investigated as part of the Kansas Archeology Training Program. The former Fool Chief’s Village (14SH305) in Shawnee County is the location of an upcoming highway safety project that will negatively impact the site. Members also toured the Topeka home of Charles Curtis, a member of the Kaw Nation, and the only American Indian to serve as vice president of the U.S.; and visited the archeology lab and museum collection storage.

If you did not have the opportunity to join us this past year at the spring meeting, we encourage you to consider participating in next year’s event.
Museum Store

Part of the newly adopted strategic plan involves streamlining the Foundation’s retail functions, including the Museum Store in Topeka. Closed during October 2011, the store was remodeled for a fresh new look and a newly refocused inventory featuring items that are Kansas made and collection inspired. The Foundation has seen a positive response to the new inventory and direction, both onsite and online. Total sales were more than $185,000 for the year. The retail team continues to develop new products and methods to merchandise and promote the products. As a result of the implementation of the new retail, admission, and membership software system in September 2012, the Museum Store inventory is integrated and processes are streamlined among the Capitol Store, stores at the state historic sites, and the newly launched online store. This new system will improve customer service and selection with the goal of increased online and onsite sales.

Internships Provide Opportunities

Allison Bertels, one of two Ripley interns in summer 2012, is an honors student at Kansas State University who plans to receive her degree in social studies secondary education in 2014. Bertels led tours at the Kansas State Capitol and the Kansas Museum of History, created lesson plans for a new traveling resource trunk, developed interpretive cards for the hands-on gallery carts, and assisted with promoting educational resources to educators.

Hayden Vosburgh, the other Ripley intern, is a 2009 graduate of Topeka High School who is a history major at Oklahoma State University. Vosburgh researched and wrote 150 articles for Kansapedia, the Historical Society’s online encyclopedia of Kansas history, and researched and wrote articles for Reflections, a quarterly membership publication.

The Ripley Internship, named for Topeka businessman John Ripley, funds full-time summer positions at the Kansas Historical Society and is available to students from a Shawnee County high school or those attending college in Shawnee County.

Jennifer Graves was the Lela Barnes/Marjorie Crump archival intern for 2012. Graves inventoried audio-visual materials from the Menninger Collection and identified preservation issues to be addressed. She also worked on the professional papers of Dr. John Crabb, a board member of the Menninger Foundation. Graves graduated from the Emporia State University master’s program in library science in May 2012. The inventories will eventually be accessible online via the archives catalog. Lela Barnes was curator of manuscripts at the Historical Society from 1936 to 1962. Marjorie L. Crump is a descendant of Kansas pioneers who serves on the Kansas Historical Foundation board of directors.

Marjorie & Ralph Crump Acquisition Endowed Fund

Among other important acquisitions made possible in fiscal year 2012, the Historical Society was able to purchase the 1854 diary of Cyrus K. Holliday with earnings from the Crump Endowment Fund. In this manuscript the founder of the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe Railway records his first trip to Kansas Territory. Upon arrival in the territory, Holliday stayed in Lawrence where he purchased interests in the town. He observed the first congressional election and comments on the three candidates. On December 6 Holliday reported that he was the claimant to a new city site [probably Topeka], and that he was chosen president.

Support for Kansas History

Through the help of supporters the Foundation raised more than $370,000 in gifts and grants in fiscal year 2012 and provided $406,421 to the Kansas Historical Society for critical programming.

Private and grant funds from people like you were spent on the following:

More than $270,000 in private dollar support:
- $81,000 Kansas students: curriculum, Kid’s Kansas fourth grade activity book, internships, awards
- $64,000 Improvements at state-owned historic sites
- $63,000 School tour bus subsidies
- $62,000 Acquisition, exhibits, conservation, other projects

More than $134,000 of grant funding:
- $75,000 Newspaper digitization
- $36,000 Detailed manuscript processing
- $12,000 Kansas Preservation newsletter
- $11,000 Basic manuscript processing

You can make a difference!

For the future—endow a fund.
Our greatest needs include exhibits, historic sites, and programming

For Kansas students—invest in K-12 history education
Curriculum development

For Kansas citizens—support a major cultural institution
The entrance to the museum galleries is outdated. We need a major partner to help us create a “Kansas history” experience that inspires and engages visitors of all ages where objects and documents are integral parts of the story.

Your entire donation is used for the area of support of your gift. Please contact Vicky Henley 785-272-8681, ext. 201, for more information about making a difference in the lives of Kansas citizens and students.
